details from Tainall County concerning the murder near Breedsville show it to have been one of the most horrible crimes ever committed in that section. The victim was the wife of James Freeman, a prosperous farmer living a few miles from Breedsville. Freeman was of an intensely jealous disposition and had several times quarreled with his wife over slight friendly attentions paid to her by a neighbor named Kennedy. Finally his jeal-ous rage led to the tragedy. Soon after dusk night before last, arming himself with a Win that he was going to make her kill Kennedy. Taking a rope he tied it around her body and dragged her through the woods and along the road to within a few feet of the house of the forced a pistol into the hands of the almost nstant death if she did not enter the house

By some means Kennedy had become aware of the intention of Freeman, but did not know his wife was with him. Throwing the woman to the ground, Freeman walked toward the house himself. Kennedy, who had been on the watch, opened fire on him. Freeman ran back to where his wife lay, seized the rope and dragged her from the nedy heard the sound of Freeman's rifle. After leaving Kennedy's home Freeman had dragged his wife a few hundred yards, curs-ing her for not obeying his order to kill Kennedy. Then had taken deliberate aim, and, nedy. Then had taken deliberate aim, and, despite the prayers of his wife for mercy, sent a bullet through her head, killing her instantly. The body lay in the road until next morning. It was then found and an alarm was sounded. Freeman had disappeared. A search was at once begun and if caught the county will probably be saved the expense of a trial.

He had several trunks, but Bremen docks because they bore the Inspector's chalk marks. Rutger had just arrived in the Noordland, and everything was all in the Noordland, and everything was all right until it was noticed that he had a very large amount of baggage. It had been taken away in a hack, but when it was learned that some more was in the cabin on the vessel, one of the inspectors went down and examined a hand-bag or two and found some expensive laces. An alarm was sent out, and the hack with his trunks was caught just as it was entering the ferry-house. The trunks were crammed with costly silks and laces worth somewhere between $60,000 and $100,000.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 12.-Rev. J. T. Aber nethy, a Methodist circuit preacher, was shot at Snow Hill by W. E. Grimsley, who caught at Snow Hill by W. E. Grimsley, who caught the minister kissing his wife. Mrs. Grimsley is the daughter of Sheriff Murrel of Onslow County. She and her husband had been living unhappily and agreed to separate. Grimsley hid under the bed on an occasion of a call by the minister on his wife. On leaving the preacher kissed Mrs. Grimsley, when her husband emerged from his hiding place and fired at the preacher with a shortgun. The preacher's hands, which he put to his face, were badly torn by the shot and his face is disfigured. Rev. Abenethy, who is well known in North Carolina, has resigned from his charge. The Grimsleys are prominent people here.

STABBED TO DEATH. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 12.-News was brought here yesterday morning of the kill-County near Howard's mill. Cundiff stated he had a difficulty to settle with Lloyd Read and it is stated plunged a knife two inches deep into his forehead, Burdthe while, it is stated, engaging Ell Read in a struggle. Lloyd Read died Thursday night and Cundiff escaped.

DECATUR, Ala., Dec. 12.-Tolles Williams, son of Dr. Williams, shot and killed Will Witherle last night. It seems that the two men met at Mrs. Nelson's, where a dispute arose between them, when Witherle drew his knife and cut at Williams, when the latter drew his pistol and fired. Witherle retreated and was shot seven times, dying instantly. Both men are of good families. Cause of directly not stated.

CLEARWATER, Minn., Dec. 12.—One hundred indignant citizens gathered at the residence of Anton Keyps just before midnight last night and ordered him, his wife, daughter and two sons to leave the place within twenty-four hours. They waiked twelve miles to St. Cloud, arriving yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. The cause of the trouble was an alleged attempt by Keyps and his family to blackmail Edward Pitheon out of $5,000.

A JEALOUS HUSBAND'S VENGEANCE. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 12 .- At 1 o'clock this afternoon George E. Wisner shot and killed Daniel Bickel. The shooting occurred at the house of a Mrs. Gager in Westport where Wisner and his wife lived. It would appear that Wisner was actuated by jealousy. He met Bickel Thursday and accused him of being unduly intimate with his wife, and it is understood, warned him to cease paying her any attention. This afternoon Bickel went to the bourse and as soon as Wisner saw him he him to cease paying her an attention. This afternoon Bickel went to the house, and as soon as Wisner saw him he began shooting at Bickel, with a revolver, Four of the bullets took effect, any one of which would have proved futal. the gossip of Wall street has been pointing to the so-called Gould contingent as the principal part of the short element existing in the stock market. Many conservative commission brokers are satisfied that the short interest in the leading stocks is extremely large. Their own experience and investigations into and in other cities have convinced them that some large operators are severely short of stocks and at prices which are far below the present basis. It is not to be denled, either, that common belief holds the biggest bears to be the sons of Jay Gould and the persons who imitate their supposed speculative position. It is argued that this must be the case, because of the long hesitation of Mr. Gould in assenting to the plan by which the collateral plan of three years was created to provide for the foating debt of the Union Pacific, and the ultra-conservatism shown in the passing of the quarterly dividend on Missouri Pacific at the end of September. This action was a severe shock to confidence in Wall street, and it was not until the last week that its effect was seen to have worn away on the stock market. There is doubt that Jay Gould himself contemplated antagonizing the summer's upward movement, but goseip credits the young Goulds with having been betrayed into a bear place. and in other cities have convinced them that

In view of the terrible gale which has caused so much destruction throughout Great Britain and freland, and which has also resulted in considerable damage to shipping and loss of life about the coasts, it is feared that the Banterer has been disabled. In fact, there are people who claim that she may have foundered with all hands. In view of this apprehension the Admiraity has ordered the cruiser Pearl to go in search of the missing gunboat. The Pearl is now cruising between Plymouth and Queenstown. It is hoped that she will fall in with the Banterer and towher, if she is disabled, into Plymouth or some other port.

The history of the Grange was very similar two years of its existence, and the story will organization of the State Grange was effected the year it had a membership of 27,000, with were strong enough to enter politics, and in 1873, when the Lower House of the Legisla-ture was elected, two-thirds of them were Grangers. As a State organization the Grange never entered politics, nor has the Grange never entered politics, nor has the Farmers' Alliance. The sub-Granges, however, took care of the political end, as have the sub-Alliances. It was the panic of 1878 which gave the Grange its boom and its political power. Gov. Anthony, who was editor of the Kaness Farmer at that time, led the fight against the organization as a political factor. Its membership rapidity declined, and it was only placed on a permanent basis by eschewing politics altogether. At the present time there are only thirty-nine sub-Granges in the State, and Maj. Wm. Sims is president of the organization.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 12 .- A special dispatch from New Orleans says: Every parish save West Baton Rouge has elected delegates to the Democratic State Convention. A careful review of the situation shows that the faction favorable to the lottery will be in control. On the Governorship question the delegates stand: McEnery, 1871; Adams, anti-lottery, 273. Sixty-five of the McEnery and forty of the Adams delegates are contested, leaving the uncontested delegates, McEnery, 306; Adams, 283. On the lottery question the convention will stand: Anti-lottery, 300; pro-lottery, 373, without taking any of the doubtful parishes into consideration. the Democratic State Convention. A careful LANSING, Mich., Dec. 12.-The report of the closing of the World's Fair on Sunday was adopted. The Committee on Legislation adopted. The Committee on Legislation recommended that the next Legislature be requested to provide for the appointment of a State Dairy Commissioner, and that gambling in farm products and the adulteration of food be prohibited by national legislation. It further condemned the law enacted by the last Legislature by which a board composed partly of women was legislated out of existence and the industrial home for girls given over to the control of a board composed entirely of men.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 12 .- Associate Judges

Brooke and Crane of the Judicial Circuit have decided that the election held at St. Leonards decided that the election held at St. Leonards in Calvert County was valid. Chief Judge Briscoe dissented. The decision places in office the following, all Republicans: State's Attorney, Frederick Gantt; Sheriff, Elijah Brown; County Commissioners, Chas. G. Spicknall, Geo. P. Ross and Joseph J. Hall. The Democratic candidates for these offices, to whom commissions have been issued by Gov. Jackson and who have qualified, will have to give up their places.

EX-SPEAKER REED HESITATES. NEW YORK, Dec. 12 .- Ex-Speaker Reed, says a Washington dispatch, confirms the report telegraphed over the country a few weeks telegraphed over the country a low weeks ago that he had serious intentions of quitting political life and settling down in New York City for the practice of law. He says he is only deterred from carrying this idea into effect by the fact that he has known so many men who have attained to high official positions and then abandoned politics for the law or business only to repent very much after the change and again re-enter the political life.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.-President L. L. Polk of the Farmers' Alliance, in speak-ing of W. S. McAllister of Mississippi, says and their notification to the Senate will occupy two or three days of next week. The first batch was sent in last Thursday and would have been followed by others yesterday and to-day had the Senate remained in session.

Many important appointments are to be made, chief of which is the vacancy in the War Department caused by the resignation of Senator Proctor.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 12.—A special from Washington, D. C., says: John Sherman is again a full-fiedged presidential candidate. He did not intend to be, but the prominence of free coinage in the Ohio campaign has brought him to the front, and he cannot resist the temptation to try it once more. He thinks financial questions will be fully as important in Congress this winter as the tariff, and that both issues will be made in the presidential campaign. His colleagues who have talked with him say there is no doubt that his mind is again fixed on the Presidency.

SHE LURED THE AFFECTIONS OF MRS. YOUNG'S $10,000 HUSBAND.

KNOXVIELE, Tenn., Dec, 12.-Last May one Dr. J. L. Young was arrested here, charged with having obtained a divorce from his wife illegally-she knowing nothing of his proceedings. The wronged wife, Mrs. Ella Young, appeared against him and he was sent to jail. The divorce had been secured in Chattanooga, and there he was taken for in Chattanooga, and there he was taken for trial. It was alleged that he had been seduced from his wife by Mrs. L. Dore Woodward, a grass widow and good-looking milliner of this city. In the meantime Mrs. Young, the true wife, sued Mrs. Woodward for damages for having allenated the affections of her husband. Yesterday the case came to trial and Mrs. Young recovered a verdict for $10,000, the full extent of the law. The jury was out but a few moments. Dr. Young and Mrs. Woodward were married secretly here some months ago. Spley allegations were made as to their conduct previous to their marriage and before Young secured his "so-called" divorce. Young previously stood high.

THE DIVORCE COLONY. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Dec. 12 .- Geo. Demaine a member of the colony hailing from Brooklyn, yesterday secured a decree of separation from his wife, Elizabeth. Demaine for years conducted a furniture business in Brooklyn. His wife was a Miss Caivert. The grounds upon which the decree was granted were desertion. Demaine left last evening for New York, where he will begin an action for $100,000 damages against the New York Morning Journal for libelling his character.

KILLED AT CLIFF CAVE.

A St. Louisan Struck by a Train and Fatally Injured. While going around a curve at Cliff Cave, in St. Louis County, about eight miles south of night, the Iron Mountain & Southern fast track and threw him ten feet into the ditch. The engineer did not see the man until the headlight threw its light upon him a few feet in front of the engine. A section hand living close by was sent back over the road to find the man and came across him in the ditch beside the track breathing his last. With a great effort he gave his name as Dilion and said he lived at 1407 O'Fallon street and then expired. Yesterday morning Justice Stoerper of St. Louis County was notified and he held an inquest at once. He rendered a verdict saying the man was accidentally killed and ordered the body buried near the spot whefe the man met his death unless some one appeared to claim the remains by noon Sunday. The deceased appeared to be about 50 or 55 years old, was feet in the season of the cold by wearing two suits of underwear, two white shirts, two cotton cardegan jackets, two pair of woolen sacks, heavy brogans, black jeans pants, a cashmere sack coat and a woolen cap. His clothes were new and very neat and clean. In his pockets were found 53.50 in silver, a rosary, a pair of spectacles, a felt hat and a pair of socks. No papers or letters which might lead to his identification were found on him. The body will be buried to-morrow if not claimed by relatives. The engineer did not see the man until the

ascended the rostrum and asked for conascended the rostrum and asked for contributions to the fund for supplying shoes to the poorchildren of St. Louis. Mr. Bernhelmer said that all those who listened to him had been boys, and from their conduct at times he was inclined to believe that many had not yet gotten over their boylshness. He, therefore, felt that he would not appeal in vain in behalf of those who had only a sad Christmas to look forward to without the help of persons more fortunately circumstanced. He then introduced Mr. W. H. Mc. Clain. Mr. McClain said that he appealed to no color and to no seet, but asked aid from all in the name of a common humanity. The churches and Sunday-schools of the city had responded liberally, and he now came to ask the merchants to aid in shoeing the shoeless. He announced that a list of needy families had been prepared, and that on Christmas day a distribution of shoes to indigent children would be made in the Exposition building. A collection committee had been appointed, and within a few moments the sum of $378 had been subscribed, with several members of the committee yet to be heard from. It was expected that the Lindsay twins would sing, but they were unavoldably absent.

The shoe tund was given a lift last night in a manner as gratifying as it was unexpected. The Merchant Tailors' Exchange was ficiding a meeting at the Fagin Building, when one of the members approached Mr. L. F. Lindsay and asked him for one of the envelopes in which the donations to the fund are usually sent. Mr. Lindsay provided the envelopes and with it as a badge of authority, the gentleman passed through the crowd and came back with a hat full of money, which had to be changed into bills before it could all be put in the envelope. Mr. W. H. McClain has announced that all such donations will be most acceptable, and the more the better.

that all such donations will be most acceptable, and the more the better.

Assistant Postmaster Isaac H. Sturgeon has written to the managers of the fund, suggesting that beside shoes, the children be provided with stockings. This will probably be done, and it is the intention to widen the scope of the charity to as great an extent as the amount of the fund will permit. It depends entirely upon the liberality of the St. Louis people to decide how much will be done.

Fr. White of St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church said that the loss will not affect their parish because the region between Tenth and Eleventh, Morgan and Brooklyn streets, is inhabited by poor families, and requires considerable attention. The alteration does, however, take out of their hands the spiritual care of St. Mary's Asylum on Biddle street and between Tenth and Eleventh streets, for which the attending priests received a salary of $400 for year. A Married Man and a Marfied Woman Desert Their Homes.

A queer story concerning St. Louis people comes by way of Indianapolis. The story runs that Geo. Mulconnery said that Mrs. Quirk's father threates to shoot the man if he ever seeks to renew the acquantance with Mrs. Quirk.

The meeting this evening will be presided over by H. S. Parker, the late Deputy President of the Division. As has been stated, all the belongings of the order in this city has been attached by creditors whose claims were not paid by Supreme President Davey and his associates. The feeling among the members here is very bitter against the supreme officers, and if the committee at Boston cannot make a satisfactory settlement it will in accordance with instructions institute criminal proceedings.

Contracts for three new $5,000 Queen Anne residences to be erected in Tower Grove place have also been let. WHO IS THE BUYER?

The report so frequently published was repeated again to day that the northeast corner of Washington avenue and Broadway had been sold, but the interested parties refuse to give the purchaser's name. Two different agencies claim the honors, and various figures have been given as the consideration paid for the premises. The five-story iron building was erected under a lease, about seventeen years ago, held by J. M. Randall, whose tenancy expires in 1893, when the improvements revert to the some time yet. Stocks of wool in manufacturers' hands have not been heavy at any time. They have pursued a hand to mouth policy, and they have made it pay during the month. by J. M. Randall, whose tenancy expires in 1883, when the improvements revert to the owners of the ground, Tyler R. Brant and others of New York city. These parties have only been getting the nominal sum of $4,000 a year and taxes for the use of their ground, as the lease was entered into at a period when the site was worth less than half its present estimated market value. As it now stands the premises produce a rental of nearly $14,00 J a year; amply sufficient to indicate the enhanced value.

COOK AVENUE FLATS. This week the demand has been on the whole for a larger number of smaller lots which is an indication of a little healthier state of trade. The manufacturing situation is on the

This is an extremely low price for ground in that locality where retail prices have been ranging from $4 to $4 a foot higher. The subdivision is now building up very rapidly with an attactive class of modest homes for people who want cheap property near an electric line.

Nelson & Mersman have effected a sale of 110x100 feet of ground, which they owned, at the northwest corner of Olive street and Whittier for $7,425, to Charles Gerhart. PROPOSALS FOR LEASE.

To Merchants and Manufacturers:

The property recently occupied by the Post-Dispatch, Nos. 515 and 517 Market street, is offered for lease for a term of ten years. A substantial building will be erected to suit the wishes of lessee. The locating of the new Union Depot and the new City Hall, both on Market street, and other extensive improvements in the immediate neighborhood makes this a very desirable location for the near future. THE CASE REVIEWED. Judge Klein in his opinion gives the history of the case, which has been before the court since June, 1889, as follows: An injunction was then applied for by the Evans & Howard Co., which alleged that great damage was being done in consequence of the effects of the gases to its wares, such as glazed piping, etc.

The St. Louis Smelting Co. came into court and siled a presenting the effects. and filed a proposition to abate the effects complained of. The proposition was enter-tained by the Court upon the St. Louis Smelt-ing Co, giving a bond of $20,000. The matter of granting the temporary injunc-tion prayed for was deferred by the court in order to give the St. Louis Smelting Co. time to put in the improvement necessary to pro duce the effect it proposed to accomplish.

In October 1889, the Smelting Co. reported that it had by means of a condenser reduced the escape of the vapors complained of 80 per cent. The trial of the case on its merits was then proceeded with, the Evans & Howard Co. not being sat-with, the Evans & Howard Co. not being satisfied with the amount of redress obtained. The St. Louis Smelting & Refining Co., in its answer, claimed that the amount of vapors still escaping were not of material damage to the Evans & Howard Co. It also claimed exemption by the fact that the Evans & Howard Co. had permitted the state of affairs to exist for a number of years. In reply to this the Evans & Howard Co. stated that it had not found it necessary to store its wares on that portion of its premises immediately adjoining the Smelting-works until 1887, two years before the injunction was asked for. The trial of the case was a long and tedious asked for.

The trial of the case was a long and tedlous one, the taking of testimony not having been finished until last June, since Judge Klein has had the matter under consideration. The court states that after long and carefully examining and weighing the large accumulation of evidence it has come to the conclusion not to grant the injunction. The evidence shows, Judge Klein states, that some damage has been sustained by the Evans & Howard Co: to its goods, amounting the court thinks to about $1,500. The evidence, however, does not show that the general business of the company has been injured, adds the court, but on the contrary, that it has been increasing from year to year.

The action of the Evans & Howard Co. in remaining tient for so many years and permitting the shelting company to put in valuable improvements to its plant has had some weight with the court, and a number of cases are cited in which injunctions were refused on this ground alone. Judge Klein, however, does not decide on this point.

The granting of injunctions, he states, is a power always used by courts with great care and consideration of the effects to be produced. He cites cases where injunctions were refused where parties were clearly shown to and consideration of the effects to be produced. He cites cases where injunctions were refused where parties were clearly shown to be damaged, but where an injunction would work a greater injury on the other party.

THE BILL DISMISSED.

The evidence shows, the Court states, that much vapor still escapes, and that while the condenser is being cleaned or will get out of order that the greater quantities will escape.

much vapor still escapes, and that while the condenser is being cleaned or will get out of order that the greater quantities will escape. An injunction, however, directed against the smeiting company in the estimation of the court would work an injury greater to the smeiting company than the amount of harm done to the Evans & Howard Co. by the escaping gases. The court also takes into consideration that the evidence shows that the district in which the plants are situated is regarded as a manufacturing district.

Besides the Court concludes the Evans & Howard Co. has a remedy at law by a suit for damages. The evidence also shows, Judge Klein states, that the workmen of the Evans & Howard Co. have been incommoded by the vapors referred to, but it is not shown, the court states, that the Evans & Howard Co. have been incommoded by the vapors referred to, but it is not shown, the court states, that the Evans & Howard Co. have been incommoded by the vapors referred to, but it is not shown, the court states, that the Evans & Howard Co. have been incommoded by the vapors referred to, but it is not shown, the court states, that the Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co., but without prejudice to any future action at law that it may take.

The Other Side.

Frederick William Stoppelmann filed an answer to-day in Judge Klein's court to his wife's suit for divorce. Mrs. Stoppelwife's suit for divorce. Mrs. Stoppelmann in her petition for divorce charges her husband with desertion and drunkenness. They were married Dec. 3, 1885, and lived fogether until June, 1890. Stoppelmann in his answer alleges that his wife locked him out of their sleeping-room, threatening that she would make it so hot for him that he would have to go to the poorhouse. And this, he alleges, was after she had induced him to make a conveyance of his property to her son by a former marriage. His wife, Stopplemann says, afterwards had the title of the property conveyed to herself.

Judge Klein handed down a decision to-day in the injunction case of the Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co. against the St. Louis Smelting & Refining Co. The companies own plants in Cheltenham on adjoining premises. The Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co. complained that large quantities of fumes of lead, sulphur, zinc, arsenic, antimony and other minerals, in the form of vapor escaped from the chimneys or stacks of the St. Louis Smelting & Refining Co., which is engaged in reducing and refining ores and base bullion, and were carried by the wind and settled on its premises (that is the premises of the Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co.) in the form of fine particles of mineral, thereby incommoding the workmen of the Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co., and injuring the goods of the fire brick company which would be stored on (Arabas Company which would be stored on (Brock) and injuring the goods of the fire brick company which would be stored on (Gib W. DISCHARGE OF THE DEFENDANT.

Then came a case in which the defendant was accused of having been drunk. "John C. Smith you are accused here of being drunk on the street; are you guity or not?" asked the City Actorney.

otions to be filed in the Criminal Court reflecting on the management of affairs in that high tribunoi, was filed by Attorney Marshall McDonald this morning in behalf of his client, Edward H. Lebens, who was charged with seducing a young lady under promise of mar riage in August or September, 1890, over a year ago. The papers in this case are lost and the present Clerk of the Criminal Court claims the indictment has in his possession . since took charge of the office in January, 1891. Lebens, it is claimed by Mr. McDonald, has never been called upon to stand trial and his case has never appeared on the docket of the Criminal Court since the indictment was returned against him. Under the statutes of this State, the prosecuting officer of a criminal court shall discharge a defendant if said defendant has not been terms of the criminal court, where said court has four or more terms each year, as the St. Louis Criminal Court has.

MEANING OF THE LAW.
According to the law as it appears in the he has never been tried by a court or jury, he has never been tried by a court or jury, and simply because the papers in his case cannot be found. Mr. McDonald filed his first motion to discharge Lebens on these grounds on Nov. 16, and in reply to it Mr. Clover filed another affidavit in which upon his oath of office he says that in the cause to has made repeated search for the indictment and has had the [Clerk of the court and his deputies do the same and that this affiant has never been able to find the indictment nor have the above mentioned officials, and that the same is lost or missing together with all the or missing together with all the other papers in the cause and that consequently the officials of the court have not been able to replace the indictment or set the cause for trial, but affiant believes that he will be able at the next term to secure the returning of a new indictment by the Grandiury.

MR. M'DONALD'S ALLEGATIONS. MR. M'DONALD'S ALLEGATIONS.
Mr. McDonald for his client, Lebens, under oath makes a number of statements in support of his motion. He says he has been Lebens' attorney ever since he was arrested in October, 1890. The indictment was returned against Lebens one year ago and the same has never been set upon the docket fortrial. Neither he nor his client have ever requested a continuance or postponement of for trial. Neither he nor his client have ever requested a continuance or postponement of the case. He has read the affidavit of Mr. Clover, and notes that the affidavit does not state when or at what the affidavit does not state when or at what time he first learned of the loss of said indictment against Lebens, but as a matter of fact the Circuit Attorney knew the indictment was lost long before the filing of defendant's motion to discharge and long before this present term of the Criminal Court, as he truly believes, for the reason that Mr. Clover so informed him more than a month ago, when he visement and will probably pass on it this month. Should he decide in favor of Leben's, his decision will open a new field for practice among Four Courts attorarys. If it should be decided that unless a defendant's case is docketed within four terms of the court he shall be allowed to go free, some defendants may make it their business to gain possession of the papers in their cases surereptitiously or otherwise, and at the close of the year request their discharge, because they were not called to trial. This would not be a very difficult task as the papers of the Oriminal Court are kept from the public by only a plain door and lock, and as there are now between three hundred and four hundred cases waiting to be tried in the Criminal Court, the absence of a handful or two of Indictments would hardly be missed.

MISSING FINGERS.

They Proved a Serious Attraction for John

Malloy-Judge Paxson's Court. The adventures of John Malloy and the respective narratives of Malloy, John McHugh, Silas West and William McGlassen were related in the Second District Police Court to day. Mailoy was out paying a social visit to a railroad confrere, and on the way home, about 2 o'clock this morning, dropped into a saloon at Sixteenth and Carr streets to take a parting nip. In there were McHugh, West and McGlassen. The last named had his left hand on the bar. Malloy noticed that became friendly with McGlassen. He was a railroad man of course. The acquaintance was sealed by several extra schooners of beer, imbibed by all, and, at the suggestion of the barkeeper, they adjourned to the street, it was time to lock up. Malloy's narrative stopped short at this point. A blow on the head ended his knowledge of what was going on around him. The arrival of Officers Mahon and Callahan and the arrest of all four followed. Mailoy sat on the witness stand to-day with a zone of bandages around his head, and a streak of his own blood smeared over his collar.

McHugh and West both claimed they had no part in the fight, and McGlassen could not say that he did, and would not say that he did not, but believed he did not strike Mal loy. The Judge discharged all but McGlassen, whom he fined $10 and costs. DEY WUZ AT DE TEATER.

Two boys went to "de teater" last night.

One was a "big feller" named Ed Kieley, who lives when at home at 2512 Taylor avenue. The other was John Williams, alias John Brown, the son of Charles Brown, and lives at 1868 washington avenue. Both were located out last night, and they met at Tenth street and Washington avenue rather late. They had a speaking acquaintance from weekly meetings in "de gallery," and so it was that Kiely persuaded Brown to pass the night in the rear of lile Lucas gvenue. They evidently had the nightmare, superinduced by the tragic scenes of the evening, for Officer O'Brien heard a noise in the shed and found them at 8 o'clock this morning, and arrested them for trespassing. The officer considered them boys that deserved watching, and the City Attorney and Judge Paxson put them through a severe examination, Williams, who is about 12 years old, soon changed his name to Brown. He lived at 1806 Washington avenue, on the north side of the street, but quickly made it 1805 when informed that no even numbers were on the north side of streets. His father was a printer in a newspaper office and he himself went to the Franklin school. Kiely was next subjected to a rigid series of questions. He

The city lies in the almost inaccessible nountainous region lying in the exreme southwestern part of the country, and is so far away from civilization that few white was by the purest accident that Alvarez bevicinity, and after he found it all of his enon account of the persistent op-position of the natives. He had een traveling over the mountains in search of an outlet to the Pacific Ocean when he came to the top of an elevated plateau and crossed to the further edge. He had a magnificent view, and while looking over the country saw what he took to be houses in a ar distant valley. A close inspection with a glass soon convinced him that what he saw was really a collection of houses and he at once set about reaching the place to see wh once set about reaching the place to see who lived in that part of the country. After days of hard work by climbing over cliffs and mountains he rea ched a place from which he obtained a good view of the city and saw that it was regularly laid out in streets and was peopled with a race who knew some-thing about civilization. The houses were of stone and were surrounded by yards, in all sides were evidences of taste shown by the inhabitants, and it was evident that he had found a city which was not known to the

A careful examination of the country showed him that the city was within a natu-ral amphitheater and was accessible from one side only. He saw that the only means of access was through a long and narrow de-file which led into the mountains from the Pacific coast side, and he started to reach the place where he could find this entrance. He made an outline drawing of the city as it appeared to him from the distant mountaintop and this is all he has to show that there is a city within the mountains, for he was never allowed to reach the spot. From this drawing it is plain that the city has not less than 4,000 inhabitants. The houses are all of stone and are supplied with doors and windows. In the center was a large building which was undoubtedly the temple of worship, for on its walls could be seen sculptured designs representing the Delty. It was of the shape of the ancient teocalli, which are to be found in many parts of this country, and the people could be seen passing in and out of it during all hours of the day. slightly different in each case, are: First, "tired-out" feeling, general lassitude cold feet and hands; second, aching of the bones, transient, fleeting pains througho from indistinct, creeping rigors in slight cases, to pronounced chills in more severe ones; fourth, fever with temperature rangfifth, congestion of the eyes, lining memfifth, congestion of the eyes, lining membrane of the nose-sometimes throat and bronchial tubes; sixth, profuse sweating occars in some cases, especially after the disease has run a few days; seventh, sneezing and less frequently coughing, are among the earliest symptoms; eighth, usually an intense frontal headache, which continues more or less during the whole course of the disease; ninth, aching and soreness of the muscles of the whole body.

No other medicinal treatment is necessary than Peruna. The directions, as they are given on the bottle, are more applicable to chronic diseases, and it is advisable, during the acute stage of the disease, to take smaller doses, but oftener. I would direct a teaspoonful of Peruna every hour for adults, and a correspondingly less dose for children. During the night, if the patients are restless, Peruna should be given regularly the whole twenty-four hours. The recovery is generally slow, even in slight cases. For many days the patient will complain of weakness, slight headache, want of appetite, etc. Peruna should betaken until the recovery is complete, but after the fever has subsided and the acute stage is past it is better to take the Peruna according to the directions on the bottle, viz., a tablespoonful before each meal. Beef tea, mutton broth and milk should be freely given according to the preference of the patient.

meetings of farmers' societies held this fall and winter have led to at least one good result, an increased amount of attention to the subject of country roads. This matter was not brought up at any of the meetings, but was the subject of discussion and consideration among the delegates, and it is certain that the result will be great improvement in the country roads. Illinois is very well off in the matter he desired. It is urged that the best means of enhancing the value of |crops is to diminish the total cost of placing produce in the market town, and that an amazing share of this cost is made up by the difficulties of wagon-road transportation, necessitating scant loads, long delays, mud blockades,

Great excitement was caused here by the arrest of Mayor Thomas S. Knoles. Alderman Henry Schoenof all the railroads combined; for besides this freight, which is at first carted in one form or another over the public road, there is a still greater quantity of produce of all kinds wheeled over these roads to fill the demands of the local market and to satisfy the requirements of home consumption.

While it is admitted that, as yet, there seems no reasonable possibility of replacing the dift roads to any considerable extent by a better material, there is certainly much to be done by engineering to diminish the difficulties of wagon transit. In most cases the roads follow tracks made by the early setters, and the wagons stick in the same mudholes year after year. This it is proposed to remedy by such changes in the line followed as experience has shown to be desirable. In scores of instances these changes can be made at a very small cost, and will greatly facilitate the transportation problem. In all probability the Legislature will be called upon to establish a Road Department. In some States civil engineers are regularly employed to give advice as to the manner in which roads should be laid out, and concerning bridges and fords. Such a department would be of great value to the farmers, and its stated that strong pressure will be brought to bear to secure its establishment.

There will be a twelve-club league after all. This is the present arrangement, and unless some slip occurs it will go through next week. A joint meeting of the League and Associa tion clubs will be held at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning at the Bates House, Indianapolis, to close the deal. President Phelps of the American Association has sent out notices to all the Association clubs that the joint meeting will be held, but while he admits that fact and also that peace will be the chief topic discussed, he refuses to talk further on the subject or state on what conditions the compromise will be effected. It is not difficult, however, to see what the is. Despite all the of the Association magnates to the Glee Club will bring out some new tenors contrary, they are undoubtedly going this year who have not been heard here bewere in Columbus a few days ago they perfected arrangements for the retirement of the team there, although a vigorous denial of the fact is made by the Buckeye management. The other city to be retired is unquestionably Louisville, and there is little doubt but what the deal looking toward that end has been arranged by President Phelps. Milwaukee will be retained. This will leave the Association with seven clubs in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, each of which cities at present has two teams one to which cities at present has two teams, one in each organization. which cities at present has two teame, one in each organization. The details of these consolidations have no doubt already been agreed upon, and when made it will leave twelve clubs all told. They will form the new league. Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philaphia, Baltimore and Washington in the East and Pittsburg, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati in the West will be the circuit.

The League has come down from its lofty perch and will permit those cities who desire to do so to play Sunday games and also to play for an admission fee of 25 cents. The games may not be scheduled for Sundays, but they will be played on that day nevertheless. Without these concessions base ball could never the construction of the control of the could never the secondary that they will seed that the Coney Island Jockey Club is 18, 225.02 this year. Without these concessions base ball could never out these concessions base ball could never be placed on a paying basis in St. Louis, Milwaukee and Cincinnati. Mr. Von der So we have got to English stallions' fees-$2,500 the season, without return privileges-

Abe and the others realize this thoroughly and without such privileges the St. Louis President, for one, would never consent to the twelve-club league scheme. He has just returned to the city after along absence. It was a well known fact that he was off arranging a deal of some kind, but whether he was trying to get one of the Association clubs to retire or was working on the twelve-club league compromise was not known. The call of President Phelps for a peace meeting makes matters clear, however. There will be a twelve-club league. This also explains the indifference of the St. Louis President and the Chicago League people about signing players. The crafty Chrisken the compromise was not known, and beside these six figures $2,500 for a stallion fee is really insignificant.

of President Phelps for a peace meeting makes matters clear, however. There will be a twelve-club league. This also explains the indifference of the St. Louis President and the Chicago League people about signing players. The craft Chris knew the compromise was coming and that by waiting he could get men cheap, as the retirement of four clubs would place plenty of men on the market. So did Mr. Spalding. Mr. Von der Ahe said this morning that he could not tell what would be done at the peace conference Tuesday. It was observed, however, that he did not break forth in his usual denunciation of the twelve-club league scheme. This is significant. Another very significant fact is the secrecy with which the deal has been conducted. Had there been no intention to drop some clubs and form a twelve-club league, there would have been no occasion for this intense secrecy. If it was only to arrange a new national agreement between the organizations, the negotiations would have been carried on more tom of giving a horse a rest at the end of each mile has established itself and the horses have learned that a mile is all there is to it, and are willing to put forth their best efforts. tions would have been carried on more openly. That arrangements have been made for a compromise on the basis of consolidation and a twelve-club league there is no question. With proper concessions to the Association cities in the matter of rate of admission and sunday games, the twelve-club league would be a good thing for them. But how long will it last? If the League does not "throw down" the Association at the coming meeting, will they not do so ere long? The following fable is told on W. L. Sim-

Chapple Moran, it appears, was placed in false light by the statement that he avoided a meeting with Eddie Avery more from anticipation of the result than on account of the shyness of the purse. It was that shyness alone, he declares, which caused him to refuse to fight. "I am ready to fight Avery at twenty-four hours' notice," he declared right after the fight between Tom Calligan and Willy Kenny, "but it must be for good money. I am not battling for glory or checks of problematical value."

The story that Willy Kenny's jaw was broken by the right-hand smash Calligan gave him in the second round of their fight was untrue, It was merely dislocated. Kenny was badly punished about the face with the exception of a slightly swollen and discolored nose and a few body bruises, Calligan has no marks to show of the conflict. MISS MARY E, BROOKS, M. D.

Paris, Dec. 12.—Baroness Reques returned to Rouen yesterday after visiting Mrs. Maybrick hooked very wan and aged. She is almost heart-broken because the insurance suit was decided without giving her an opportunity to tell her story in the witness box. Nevertheless she is very glad the insurance money was obtained for use of her children. Mme. Requestays when the lawyers obtained the statement from Mrs. Maybrick for use in the insurance suit they assured her there was no doubt she would have a chance to go into court on a habeas corpus. The decision of the Supreme Court sets good. Paris, Dec. 12.—Baroness Roques re court on a habeas corpus. The decision of the Supreme Court sets aside all chance of her release for two or three years at least. The American woman who raised the release money should clearly understand that the chances of successions were the state of the same constant of the same constant of the same court of the clearly understand that the chances of success are very remote, and even if they succeed it will be effect a long delay. SHE LIKES LONDON.

MRS. MACKAT WILL SELL HER PARISIAN PALAC -THE WRANGLE WITH MEISSONIER. LONDON, Dec. 12.-Mr. Mackay's Parouse will be offered for sale next week. house will be offered for sale next week, reserve price is put upon it of course, though it is considerably less than sirs. Mackay pal when she purchased it several years age French papers seem to take it as a persona affront on Mrs. Mackay's part, because ship prefers to live in London rather than Park Their comments about her selling her hous are just as acrimonious and wide of actual facts as were their comments on her disput with Meissonier over an alleged picture herself a few years ago.

Last Thursday Mrs. Mackay turned over the London house. Cariton House terractions and the selling the selli her London house. Carlton House terract to Mrs. Charles Yates, who gave a private concert at high society prices to celebrate her recovery from a severe illness. The me fact that the concert was held in Mr Mackay's drawing-room assured the financial success of Mrs. Yates' venture in the concert world. Asked why she was giving up her world.

Mackay's drawing-room assured the inhance success of Mrs. Yates' venture in the conce world. Asked why she was giving up hearls house, Mrs. Mackay said:

"I am giving it up because it is of further use to me. I have been living London now for seven years and I prefer to Paris. I can more readily meet peop who make life pleasant for me. Paris is ne socially what it used to be when I went the to live fifteen years ago. My daughter married and when she visits Paris she has house of her own to live in. One of my so is in business with his father in America an another at school in England. When I go Paris it is chiefly to see new plays or buy ne gowns. I much prefer living in apartmen at home than to go into my house there, so decided to sell. I received several priva offers, but they practically amounted to giving the house away, so I was advised out it up at public auction. That wou
